GOOD NEWS FOR HOMEMAKERS

By: Shirley W. Walton Extension Agent

SAVE ON VEGETABLES AND FRUITS

Buy fresh produce in season when supplies are high, prices low, and flavor and nutrition at their peak. Fruits usually identified now include apples, avocados, bananas, grapefruit, lemons, oranges, pears, tangelos and tangerines. Vegetables that are generally in good supply include broccoli, brussels sprouts, cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, celery, eggplant, green peppers, greens, hard shelled squash, lettuce, mushrooms, onions, parsnips, potatoes, rutabagas, spinach, turnips.

Compare the price of frozen and canned fruits and vegetables when their fresh counterparts are in season. Sometimes the frozen or canned produce costs less.

Choose canned fruits and vegetables by grade, if possible. These grades, which may be indicated on the can label, are based on looks or size of the pieces, not on nutritional value. Grade A is fancy; Grade B, choice; and Grade C, standard. Where appearance is not important, buy Grades B or C.

Store fresh vegetables and fruits properly and use them in time to make the most of their food value.

Hard-shelled squash, onions, potatoes, rutabagas store at coolest room temperature or in a cool basement. Don't put them in cupboards over the range or close to the refrigerator exhaust. Keep dry. Store other vegetables and fruits in the vegetable section of the refrigerator, wrapped in the orginial store package.

Don't wash fruits and vegetables before storing moisture encourages spoilage.

Use vegetables and fruits within this time: Broccoli, Brussels sprouts, eggplant, green onions, greens, lettuce, mushrooms, spinach -1 to 2 days.

Cauliflower, celery, green peppers -3 to 5 days. Green or red cabbage, carrots, onions, parsnips, potatoes, rutabagas, turnips -1 to 2 weeks. Hard shelled squash can be stored several months. Apples, grapefruit, lemons, oranges, tangelos, tangerines -1 to 2 weeks. Avocados, pears -3 to 5 days. Bananas (ripe) -2 to 3 days.

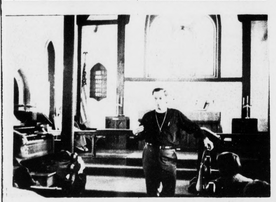
Note: More information on how to save food dollars next week.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

NO CRUST COCOANUT PIE

4 eggs beaten
2 cups whole milk
1 tsp. vanilla
½ stick butter or margarine, (Melted)
1⅔ cups sugar
½ cup self rising flour
7 oz. can angel flake cocoanut

Mix ingredients as listed. Bake in a pie pan 30 to 40 minutes at 350°. Makes 2 pies. This pie makes its own crust.



Community Resource Persons: Valuable Tool For Learning

In Social Studies, the fourth year students at the Appomattox Primary School are studying Great Britain and the world. To enrich their programs, Mrs. Richard Robinson presented England from a tourist's point of view, in picture at the top.

Mrs. Claude Carr spoke as a native and pointed out many facinating things about England, shown in center picture.

Moray Peoples emphasized the ancient customs of the English people and how these traditions influenced our culture, shown in bottom picture.

The ACRS, having realized the necessity for additional space for storing equipment and vehicles, is ready to areas by man, animals and wildlife. Both the Soil Conservation Service and the Forest Service will provide technical services and planning assistance.

The Chairman said approval of long-term agreements will be of $4427.00 has been targeted for these agreements from the total $12,000.00 RECP funds allocated this year for Appomattox county. The cost sharing has been set at 50% on all costs incurred, including labor.

The sign-up from March 11 to April 30 does not apply to the one-year agreements or the Forestry incentive practices of the RECP. However, Mr. Ford said the ASCS office also encourages others farmers and landowners to sign up for these two programs as early as possible because of the late start this year.

The opportunities in the program are available without regard to race, color, creed, national origin or sex.

will be held in several churches on Thursday evening. Worshippers are encouraged to check their church's schedule.

Holy Week concludes with Easter. The community will hold a Sunrise Service at Memorial United Methodist Church at 6:30 a.m. Mr. Riley will preach and will be assisted by other local clergy.

The focus of attention for the week will be on Jesus and the events in which he was involved. In a sense, one will re-trace our Lord's steps, from his triumphal entry into Jerusalem, to the cross, to the empty tomb. Getting ready for a special event in our life is important. The community worship of the week will be directed at preparation for Easter life and hope.

All services are open to the public.

8th & 9th 4-H'ers

The president called the meeting to order and pledged allegiance to the flags. Then the secretary read the minutes of the last meeting. The president called for the business. Mr. Sweet talked about the demonstration on April 20, 1974, pine seedlings, projects, and share the fun which was held last Thursday. Then the president called for new business. Mr. Goldman talked about camp, and senior camp, livestock, and passed around sheets on Wildlife feed patch. The meeting was then turned over to Mr. Sweet. He handed out sheets on the demonstrations which will be held on April 20. Then Mr. Goldman gave a demonstration. The meeting was adjourned.
